The undersigned complainant, being duly sworn, states:

Count One
(Conspiracy to Export Cocaine)

Beginning at a date unknown but not later than on or about December 15, 2016, and continuing until on or about February 23, 2017, in San Juan County, within the Western District of Washington, and elsewhere, the Defendant, GARY TODD HORTON, knowingly and intentionally conspired with persons known and unknown, to export from the United States to Canada an unknown controlled substance, believed at this time to be a mixture and substance containing a detectable amount of cocaine, a Schedule II controlled substance.

All in violation of Title 21, United States Code, Sections 953 and 960.

1 I, Steven M. Ausfeldt, being first duly sworn on oath, depose and say:

12 Substances Act (Title 21, United States Code). I have also personally participated in

PROBABLE CAUSE

A. December 15, 2016 Incident

5. On December 15, 2016, HSI agents were notified by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) of a potential maritime narcotics smuggling incident involving William Milton BARNES. BARNES is a Canadian citizen residing in British Columbia. According to RCMP, BARNES owns a maritime-related business at 89 Dallas Rd. Victoria, British Columbia named "Mercury Sales and Service" (hereinafter MERCURY). RCMP surveillance has observed multiple vessels at MERCURY registered to BARNES. MERCURY is located adjacent to the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the waterway which separates the Olympic Peninsula in the U.S. from Vancouver Island in Canada. The east end of the Strait of Juan de Fuca joins the greater Salish Sea region, which includes the San Juan Islands and Puget Sound.

6. According to RCMP, at approximately 0842 hours on December 15, 2016, maritime radar indicated that a vessel travelling westbound crossed the United States-Canada international boundary at a high rate of speed, heading towards Victoria, British Columbia. Radar tracking confirmed that this vessel reached a speed of approximately forty-five knots on the approach to Victoria. In my training and experience, a travel speed of forty-five knots is not consistent with typical recreational boating activity in the region.

7. Due to the suspicious nature of the border crossing and the approximate vector of travel, RCMP began observing BARNES's business at MERCURY. At approximately 0847 hours, RCMP observed BARNES offload at least five large waterproof dry bags from his vessel into MERCURY. It took BARNES three trips to the vessel to offload the dry bags. The dry bags appeared to be heavy and their shape was consistent with bags containing kilogram bricks of narcotics.

8. RCMP subsequently reviewed historical radar data from earlier that morning and noted that a vessel (hereinafter VESSEL 1) departed Victoria, BC in the vicinity of MERCURY at approximately 0705 hours. The radar track indicated that

1 VESSEL 1 headed eastbound toward U.S. territorial waters at approximately twenty-
2 eight knots. Based on the radar track, RCMP believes that VESSEL 1 was operated by 3 BARNES.

4 9. According to the radar track, as VESSEL 1 entered the U.S. waters via 5 Haro Strait, it slowed to approximately twenty knots and continued heading eastbound.

6 10. At approximately 0800 hours, the radar track indicated that VESSEL 1
7 increased speed toward an unknown vessel (hereinafter VESSEL 2). The radar track for 8 VESSEL 2 indicated that it originated from the vicinity of Anacortes, Washington or 9 Deception Pass, Oak Harbor, Washington.

10 11. According to the radar track, VESSEL 1 and VESSEL 2 met in United 11 States waters at 0813 hours. RCMP indicated that this location was approximately four 12 and a half nautical miles south south-east of Cattle Point on San Juan Island, Washington
13 and approximately seven nautical miles east of the international boundary in Haro Strait.

14 12. VESSEL 1 and VESSEL 2 met for approximately five minutes, departing at 15 0818 hours. Following this brief meeting, VESSEL 1 returned to Victoria as described 16 above, where BARNES was observed unloading a boat that is believed to be VESSEL 1.
17 VESSEL 2 returned toward its point of origin on the radar, but the RCMP was unable to 18 track VESSEL 2 to its final destination.

19 13. In my training and experience, the activity noted in the preceding 20 paragraphs is indicative of narcotics smuggling. The very short meeting between 21 VESSEL 1 and VESSEL 2, and the high rate at which VESSEL 1 departed United States
22 waters, are suspicious and inconsistent with recreational or fishing activity. Furthermore,
23 BARNES's offloading of five waterproof dry bags after a cross-border meeting is highly 24 suspicious. Dry bags are commonly used to transfer narcotics in a maritime environment
25 in order to protect the product from the elements. In addition, it is unusual for a 26 recreational boater to have five dry bags while operating a vessel alone. According to 27 RCMP, BARNES did not check into Canadian customs after returning from United 28

1 States waters, as is required by Canadian law. This failure to clear customs is also 2 suspicious.

3 B. February 23, 2017 Incident

4 14. On February 23, 2017, at approximately 1200 hours HSI was notified by 5 U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Air and Marine Operations that BARNES
6 was piloting a vessel in a south-easterly direction toward the United States-Canada
7 international boundary.

8 15. CBP marine agents subsequently responded to the area in which BARNES
9 was suspected of conducting previous smuggling operations.

10 16. At approximately 1332 hours, BARNES had returned to the dock at 11 MERCURY and was observed removing dry bags from his vessel. Immediately
12 thereafter, RCMP attempted to apprehend BARNES and BARNES fled on foot.

13 17. At approximately 1341 hours, CBP marine agents intercepted a vessel that 14 was following a trajectory consistent with having departed from BARNES' last known
15 radar location. There were no other vessels in the area coming from the known meet
16 location. CBP marine agents conducted a vessel customs check, pursuant to Title 19
17 United States Code, Section 1581. The location of the stop was southeast of Lopez 18 Island, Washington. The vessel stopped bears registration number WN8004NL, which is 19 registered to GARY TODD HORTON, a United States Citizen. HORTON was the 20 operator and sole occupant of the vessel at the time of the stop.

21 18. According to CBP marine agents, during the vessel check, HORTON made
22 inconsistent statements regarding his activity on the water. Furthermore, HORTON
23 stated that he may have entered Canadian waters. Due to the aforementioned
24 information; to include the knowledge of BARNES' arrest by RCMP with dry bags, and 25 the vector of HORTON's travel being consistent with that of a vessel which had met up
26 with BARNES, CBP marine agents subsequently escorted HORTON's vessel to a marina
27 in Cornet Bay in Oak Harbor, Washington for further investigation.
28

1 19. HSI responded to Cornet Bay and contacted HORTON. HORTON
2 subsequently signed consent to search forms for his vessel, truck, and cell phones.

3 20. An Anacortes Police Department K-9 unit responded to assist with the 4 investigation. The trained narcotics detection dog conducted an examination of 5 HORTON's vessel and registered an alert to the odor of narcotics in the mid-ship deck
6 box and forward cuddy cabin. The K-9 also registered an alert to the odor of narcotics in 7 HORTON's truck. An examination of the vessel and the truck did not yield any 8 narcotics. However, I know from my training and experience, that a dog may detect the 9 odor of narcotics in a particular location if narcotics were recently present there.

10 21. Furthermore, HSI Agents discovered a receipt from Cabela's dated 11 December 13, 2016—two days before the December 15, 2016, incident involving 12 BARNES described above. This receipt indicated that HORTON had purchased three 13 dry bags from Cabela's.

14 22. HSI agents discovered that HORTON had two cell phones in his 15 possession. I know through my training and experience that drug traffickers will often 16 carry more than one cell phone, in order to compartmentalize their legitimate and 17 illegitimate communications, and avoid detection by law enforcement. One of 18 HORTON's cell phones is a PGP (also known as "Pretty Good Protection") Blackberry
19 cell phone. PGP is an encryption program that can be used to encode text communication
20 between cellular telephones. Through my training and experience, I know that PGP 21 encryption is often used by narcotics smugglers to conceal their communications from 22 law enforcement.

23 23. The consent search of HORTON's Blackberry revealed several text
24 messages. One text message, sent from "Cowboy" (later determined to be HORTON) to 25 "Patriots" at 1307 hours on February 23, 2017, read "Ok all done fuck what a day."
26 Radar information obtained from RCMP indicates that BARNES and HORTON met in 27 United States waters at 1305 hours.
28

1 24. Concurrent to the investigative activities conducted by HSI above, RCMP
2 arrested BARNES in Victoria for suspected importation of cocaine. According to 3 RCMP, they seized from BARNES at least seven dry bags which are believed to contain
4 multiple kilograms of suspected cocaine. HSI also received the following information
5 from RCMP regarding radar tracking of BARNES on February 23, 2017:

6 25. At approximately 1212 hours, RCMP observed BARNES departing in a
7 boat from his dock at MERCURY. RCMP was also able to observe BARNES' radar
8 signature at 1212 hours off Ogden Point, near Victoria, British Columbia.

9 26. RCMP tracked BARNES' radar signature as it approached the international
10 boundary at a high speed (30-34 knots). As BARNES approached the border, he varied
11 his speed and heading. According to an RCMP radar analyst, this behavior is not 12 consistent with fishing activity. At approximately 1242 hours, BARNES' vessel crossed
13 into U.S. territorial waters.

14 27. At approximately 1248 hours, RCMP observed a vessel travelling
15 westbound which originated from U.S. waters approach BARNES' vessel, slowly closing
16 the distance between their vessels over the next fifteen minutes. At 1304 hours,
17 BARNES and the U.S. vessel rapidly closed distance, meeting side by side at a 1.64
18 nautical miles inside U.S. waters. The vessels subsequently separated and BARNES
19 reentered Canadian waters at approximately 1312 hours.

20 28. According to RCMP, the U.S. vessel departed eastbound along the south
21 side of San Juan Island, Washington. RCMP performed an analysis based on the speed 22 and heading of the U.S. vessel and predicted its likely future location. This location is 23 consistent with the location of the CBP marine intercept at 1341 hours of HORTON's 24 vessel.

25 29. Based on all the circumstances described above, HSI agents arrested
26 HORTON for federal narcotics violations. HORTON was subsequently transported to 27 the Anacortes Police Department. After waiving his Miranda rights, HORTON admitted 28 to transporting narcotics on at least four occasions, to include February 23, 2017 and in

1 December, 2016. HORTON stated that he was getting paid $50,000 for his role in the 2 February 23, 2017, smuggling attempt. HORTON stated that he had been paid between 3 $10,000 and $30,000 for his previous successful smuggling of narcotics.

4 30. Furthermore, HORTON identified a photograph of BARNES as the 5 individual who he transferred the narcotics to on February 23, 2017. HORTON stated
 6 that he knew BARNES as "Trent" or "Trey." In addition, HORTON identified
 7 BARNES's vessel as the same vessel that he transferred the narcotics to. HORTON
 8 further stated that all his previous narcotics smuggling events have involved transferring 9 narcotics to BARNES on waters near the international boundary.

10 CONCLUSION

11 31. Based on the foregoing, I respectfully submit there is probable cause to 12 believe that GARY TODD HORTON, did knowingly and intentionally conspire to export
 13 a controlled substance, likely cocaine, from the United States into Canada, in violation of 14 21 U.S.C. §§ 953 and 960.
